

Talk About Town

Issue 8-7-09

UG Commission Set to Raise Taxes

The UG Commission swallowed Dennis Hays budget like a live bullfrog. It went down easy until it started jumping back out of their throats.

Dennis Hays had Bill Miller, Mark Holland, Mark Mitchell, Tom Cooley and John Mendez in his hip pocket to vote for anything he could scratch on paper. Miller did not bother to show up to vote for his seventh consecutive deficit ridden budget. No problem for Bill Miller the others did the dirty work just like they promised. Taxpayers get screwed again.

Mike Kane, Butch Ellison, Nathan Barnes and Ann Murguia protested until the clock struck twelve and then all but Ellison voted for the budget. Ellison did not believe furloughing the employee's that actually worked was a good idea. Great Job Butch, you did what was right and honorable. The others will soon be with you when they realize the con job Hays and company has pulled off.

The next few months at city hall will see many staff announcing their retirements, most have been retired for years, and they just got a paycheck anyway. The excuses will be wait until next April and then we will redo the budget. All the while the politicians will raise taxes and further destroy the town they claim to love.

The next stop will be East St. Louis Illinois. Bankruptcy and then shaazam, another puppet leader emerges and we do this routine all over again. The more things change the more they remain the same.

Unified Government Proposes more Taxes to help Your Family

The UG Commission led by Bill Miller, Mark Holland and Mark Mitchell approved the first step for your family to pay higher taxes to pay for Schlitterbahn and other projects that Dennis Hays and Mayor Reardon have promised their political contributors.

Mayor "Jack em up Joe" Reardon believes poor families should pay for his political fantasies and trips to Hawaii. Rick Worner needs more money so he sends his political friends to Hawaii to enjoy a couple of weeks on the Beach. After they come home they vote his way and issue more bonds that can be repaid by the people that live in Wyandotte County.

Stealing the Fairgrounds was just a start for the dynamic duo of duh. Making money is the most important thing a person can do, so they can fund puppet governments and get all of the money that they want.

Mayor "Jack em up Joe" Reardon wants more tax money from your families and his puppet commission is right with him. The only three commissioners that believe the people are taxed enough are Nathan Barnes, Ann Murguia and Butch Ellison. Bill Miller looks as though he has been eating basketballs and Mark Holland cannot shut up long enough to let himself think. Tom Cooley and Pat Pettey believe in bigger government at every step of the way. Sounds great.

The current migration rate according to the US Census bureau is 1000 people per year leaving WYCO. Maybe they think the taxes are high enough.

Vote No. Giving Corrupt Government More money is not the answer.